LITTLE HOPE IS HELD FOR GIRL'S RECOVERY

By Associated Press. LEXINGTON, Mar. 17.—Albert Coyle, 21, Lexington, who shot himself and Miss Agnes Ropp, 17, Winchester, Ky., last night, died early today. Miss Ropp, shot through the neck is conscious, but there is little hope of her recovery. Miss Ropp, is the daughter of Bert Ropp, oil driller of Winchester. Coyle was formerly in the navy, came here recently with his mother from Jackson county. It is understood he was an employee of the traction company.

PROTESTS DECISION ON PROHIBITION SEARCH WARRANTS

Chief Dry Officer Says Will Remove Entire Force From Kentucky and Tennessee If Evans' Ruling in Effect

DECLARES AUTOS CAN NOT BE SEARCHED WITHOUT WARRANTS

By Associated Press. LOUISVILLE, Mar. 17.—P. Green Miller, chief prohibition enforcement officer here today announced that he would remove the entire force of agents from Kentucky and Tennessee as a result of a decision of Federal Judge Evans Friday that automobiles containing liquor could not be searched without a warrant. Miller said this decision makes his force practically useless in this locality and that distillery robbers could transport liquor now practically without being molested.

NEXT WEEK FOR GOOD HEALTH

State Directors Ask Observance In Public Schools Of Kentucky

LOUISVILLE, March 17.—March 19 to 24 has been set apart by President T. J. Coates of the Eastern Kentucky State Normal School, Richmond, Ky., as "Good Health Week."

Sixteen per cent of all children who drop out of school before graduation, do so because of ill health, according to Dr. Luther Gulick, New York health expert. Eighty per cent of tuberculosis infection is made in childhood and develops in later life. These facts are sufficient reasons for the application in Kentucky schools of health habit teaching which will give children the sturdy bodies that will allow them to be useful citizens of the state.

Dr. Anne Veech, Director Bureau of Child Hygiene of the State Board of Health, will address the teachers March 21 on the program for the pre-school child. Miss Jessie C. Yancy, State Director of the Modern Health Crusade, of the Kentucky Tuberculosis Association, will spend the entire week at the school meeting classes and conference groups relative to the systematic health education program, outlined in the Physical Education Manual, the joint publication of the State Board of Health and the Department of Education, in which children "learn by doing" correct health habits. Miss Yancy will arrange a book and poster exhibit.

Extension of health education to all schools in the state is the ultimate aim of the State Board of Health authorities, according to Dr. A. T. McCormack, State Health Officer.

INTER-SUNDAY SCHOOL GAMES CLOSE, BAPTISTS CHAMPIONS

Last Monday's game in which the Baptists defeated the Presbyterians marked the close of the basketball season so far as the Inter-Sunday school league is concerned, according to J. P. Seales, member of the schedule committee. The Baptists, having defeated the Christians and the Presbyterians and never suffering defeat, stand as champions in the Sunday school league.

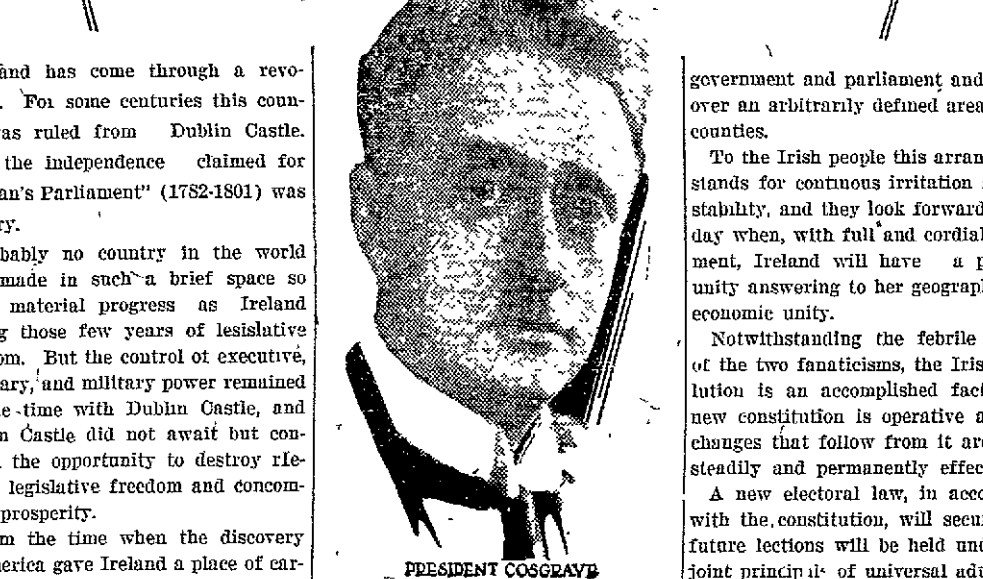

The games have created a great deal of interest in the Sunday schools and a spirit of rivalry just strong enough to make the games interesting has existed between the opposing teams. Each of the teams having had expert players, the games have, in no sense, been what could be called amateur contests.

IRELAND TODAY

Ireland has come through a revolution. For some centuries this country was ruled from Dublin Castle. Even the independence claimed for "Grattan's Parliament" (1782-1801) was illusory.

Probably no country in the world ever made in such a brief space so much material progress as Ireland during those few years of legislative freedom. But the control of executive, judiciary, and military power remained all the time with Dublin Castle, and Dublin Castle did not await but contrived the opportunity to destroy Ireland's legislative freedom and concomitant prosperity.

From the time when the discovery of America gave Ireland a place of cardinal importance in the midst of the world until about a year ago, Ireland was dominated by Dublin Castle, and this domination developed in time to such a degree that, in the words of a recent English chief secretary, the whole people of Ireland lived under the Dublin Castle microscope.

Dublin Castle was an organized bureaucracy, responsible only to the absentee British government, contemptuous of the Irish people and their representatives, over whom it appointed its own judges and magistrates, its own taxgatherers and police, and its own secret service agents.

It was supported by the British army and navy and had its own arm of power and intelligence, the Royal Irish Constabulary, organized on a military footing and equipped with military arms, the most centralized and efficient police force that the world has known. Its power can compare with that of any despotism in history.

Within less than three generations, it was able without challenge to exterminate half the population of Ireland and to stifle most of the peoples industries, draining from them in the meantime a tribute that mounted up, in Lord MacDonnell's words, to "an Empire's ransom."

The Irish revolution, led by Arthur Griffith and Michael Collins, has ended that. Dublin Castle is no more. Its entire organization has disappeared. The survivors of its great police force are retired pensioners.

In its stead rules a government elected by the people of Ireland, under

CHARGE NEGLECT IN JAIL MANAGEMENT

Grand Jury Says No Regulations of Prisons of Either Middlesboro or Pineville

Gross negligence in the management of the jails here and at Pineville was charged in the report which the grand jury made to the court this morning. It was said that there are no rules or regulations governing the jails, that prisoners are often released before the expiration of their sentences, that members of the public are admitted to the jails without being searched and that implements and tools are often carried to the prisoners in this manner which may enable them to escape.

Recommendation that prisoners held on misdemeanor charges be put at hard labor, thus relieving the county or city of the expense of keeping them was made in the report. Owing to the increase in the number of prisoners due to liquor law violations the jail facilities have become inadequate, according to the report and recommendation was made that these conditions be remedied.

Improper keeping and handling of records in the inferior courts was charged. It was said that magistrates failed to make proper records of preliminary trials, that they failed to recognize witnesses which were to appear before the next session of the grand jury and that the work of the grand jury was impeded and rendered inefficient by reason of this negligence.

It is said that the man who appears to be about twenty-five years old is an ex-soldier sent here by the government to recuperate from effects of shell-shock. Hospital authorities say that his case is a peculiar one, that it is not known whether or not the man is suffering from shell-shock. A bank book in his pocket furnished the clue to his name.

MOST DISASTROUS FIRE IN HISTORY GLASGOW TODAY

Started From Cigarette, Broke Out in Second Story. Mitchell Building About 5 a. m. Damage $150,000

BUILDING DYNAMITED TO PREVENT FIRE SPREADING

By Associated Press. GLASGOW, Mar. 17.—The most disastrous fire in the history of Glasgow broke out at five o'clock here today and raged five hours before it was brought under control. The loss is estimated at $150,000. Dynamite was used to wreck the building. Firemen finally checked the blaze and saved the Liberty Hotel, the next structure in the path of the fire. The fire broke out in the second story of the Terry Mitchell building, the most modern structure here. It was discovered by a night patrolman who warned occupants. It is believed to have originated from a carelessly thrown cigarette. It was soon beyond control of the fire department and citizens who formed a bucket brigade. As a last resort quartermen nearby were summoned, who blew up the three story dwelling enabling the fire fighters to handle the situation.

"LISTEN TO ME" HAS MANY FEATURE NOVELTIES

With many novelties, gorgeous scenery of silks and satins, beautiful costumes and a metropolitan cast supported by a bewitching chorus, the brilliant musical extravaganza "Listen To Me" will be presented at the Manning Theatre Monday night.

"Listen To Me" towers above anything previously accomplished in modern extravaganza. It has a beautiful fantastic story, entwining a wondrous setting of scenic splendor. The book, lyrics and music of this exquisite masterpiece is from the successful hand of Charles George, one of the foremost writers of the present age. This in itself is sufficient endorsement for the surprising receptions the production is receiving.

The feature novelties and wonderful transformations of "Listen To Me" leave nothing undone to the imagination, which is pronouncedly strengthened by the remarkable cast, including Roy Cowan, Billy Murphey, Betty Dawn Martin, Bessie Delmore, Chester M. Gatos, Barbara Broness, Ross Robertson and others—supported by twenty clever girls.

INNOCENT AUTO RIDE PAINFUL TO CAR DRIVER

An innocent automobile ride Thursday afternoon with three school girls resulted in minor but painful injuries to the person of Herman Manning at the hands of J. J. Southern, irate parent, and to the youth's indictment by the grand jury on a technical charge of contributing to delinquency of public school pupils.

Manning, who is about twenty years of age and a telegraph operator at the Junction, says that he was driving his car through town in the early afternoon when he saw Misses Maggie and Sallie Southern and Miss Lillian Haynes and allowed them to ride with him. Mr. Southern, it seems, had missed the girls from home and went in pursuit. Manning succeeded in giving him the dodge and the three girls left his car at about 2:15.

About two hours later when Manning was putting his car in the garage Mr. Southern accused him of taking the girls off and an argument resulted in a fight in which Manning, judging from various facial bruises, seems to have been loser.

KENTUCKY

The sun never shone on a country more fair
Than beautiful, peerless Kentucky;
There's life in a kiss of her rarified air,
Kentucky, prolific Kentucky.
Her sons are valiant and noble and bright,
Her beautiful daughters are just about right,
And the babies—God bless them!—
are clear out of sight;
That crop never fails in Kentucky.

Our homes are light with a halo of love,
Kentucky, contented Kentucky;
We bask in the smile of the heavens above—
No clouds ever darken Kentucky.
Our grain waves in billows of gold in the sun,
The fruits of our orchards are equaled by none,
And our pumpkins—some of them—
weigh almost a ton;
We challenge the world in Kentucky.

Our girls are sweet models of maidenly grace
In this modern Eden, Kentucky;
They are perfect in figure and lovely in face—
That's just what they are, in Kentucky.
Their smiles are bewitching and winning and sweet,
Their dresses are stylish, yet modest and neat,
A Tribby would envy their cute little feet.

In beautiful peerless Kentucky.

When the burden of life I am called to lay down,
I hope I may die in Kentucky;
I never could ask a more glorious crown
Than one of the sod of Kentucky.
And when the last trumpet wakes the land and the sea,
And the tombs of the earth set the prisoners free,
You may all go aloft, if you choose but for me—
I think I'll just stay in Kentucky.

The march of man from savagery to civilization can be measured by his menus. One's primitive instincts come more closely to the surface at eating than at any other time. Possibly that is why civilized men and women have wisely made social dining an important function. The wise observe always the nicest formalities of the dining room.

WHEN DINING OUT

Guests of refinement make no comment on food, except to praise. One takes some of every course on his plate, and partakes of it, if only lightly, instead of refusing. The guest at a formal dinner or luncheon never asks for a second helping of any dish.

The guest who has an accident, such as a dropping fork or even overturning or breaking a dish, will not make profuse apologies a simple word or two to the hostess suffices. The guest unfortunate enough to break a valuable dish may replace it with a duplicate, or near-duplicate, within a day or two, sending along an apology.

It's bad manners for a guest at dinner to rise and rush away at the end of the meal.

U. S. WILL STRIKE AGAINST SOARING BUILDING PRICES

Recommend All Government Construction Be Held Up Till Costs

Deflated To Level Of Year Ago

MATERIAL NOW ALMOST DOUBLE PRE-WAR COSTS

By Harry Hunt

WASHINGTON, March 17.—Uncle Sam is going on strike against soaring prices in the building trades.

Following an investigation extending over many weeks, in which facts gathered indicate great inflation in building costs, authorities in control of government work are preparing a report to the president recommending all government construction work be stopped until costs are deflated at least to the level of one year ago.

Figures on hand show cost of a brick house today is 10 per cent higher than in January 1922; that a frame dwelling building today costs 14 per cent more than a year ago, and that factory construction costs are 29 per cent above January 1922.

As compared to pre-war costs, brick houses are up 195 per cent, frame 109 per cent and factory buildings 196 per cent.

Serious Factor In 1923 Outlook
The unhealthy condition in the building trades, due to inflation, is declared to be the one serious situation in the outlook for 1923.

Unless the inflation can be curbed, it is feared another general strike by the building public will result with the stoppage of virtually all construction work. This would bring hardships to the whole manufacturing and industrial structure.

The calling off of all government construction work will be recommended their inflation and at the same time as the best means of checking the further providing a method of preventing a precipitate break in industry generally, which would be disastrous.

Should the public follow the governments lead by calling off construction work the government could step in whenever prices got down to a reasonable and sane level, and by resuming construction prevent entire demoralization.

Can't Help Price Boosts
In formulating the report on building inflation, it will be pointed out that prices have continued to rise steadily after the entire industry had been endangered.

In the present situation, with volume of building at the maximum and all building industries working full time, there is virtually no competition and no factor of restraint on soaring prices.

A builder's strike, with a sudden general cessation of building, would cause the whole industry to bring up on the rocks.

A sample of what is ahead if prices keep going higher will be provided, therefore, as an illustration to the industry, by suspending government construction work.

Remington Typewriters

In a typewriter, as in everything else, it is always cheaper to buy the best.

If there is any doubt in your mind as to the best typewriter, a demonstration will thoroughly convince you that it is true economy to buy a Remington.

Remington does not build one or two typewriters and leave it for you to adapt your work to one of these machines—they build a typewriter for every purpose—there is a Remington to fit your requirements, no matter how exacting or complicated they may be.

Demonstrations cheerfully given—machines placed in your office for free examination.

When better typewriters are built, Remington will build them and the name will remain Remington.

CHINESE ARMY DIVISION ADOPTS CHRISTIAN FAITH
By Associated Press.

(CHICAGO, Mar. 17.—The Eleventh Division of the Chinese Army, called by some "the Chinese Ironsides" commanded by Major General Feng Yu hsiang, known as "the Cromwell of China," has become solidly Christian according to a cablegram received today by the Board of Foreign Missions of the Methodist Episcopal church.

It was General Feng and his Eleventh Division which swooped down from Shensi Province to the relief of Peking, then being defended by General Wu Pei Fu in the fighting of last summer. General Feng threw his men into the path of the victorious Manchurians and hurled them back in a defeat, which eventually resulted in rent. At that time the Christian soldiers wore arm bands containing the stern military ideals of their leader.
They advanced to the fray singing Christian hymns. This division in which there is definite welfare work and vocational training for the men, all of which is due to the constructive activity of their leader, the Board states.

The antiquity of man has never been traced to pre-glacial days, but a freak rock image containing hieroglyphics unearthed near Grand Lake, Colorado, has started scientists to wondering if Adam and Eve got their start in this hemisphere and then journeyed across Bering Strait.

Anything can happen these days. A

CALLISON'S

ONE MINUTE SERMON On Church Going:

Text: "Not forsaking the assembling of ourselves together, as the manner of some is:

Church going is a means of grace, and divinely appointed. It is helpful, and restful. A fine investment of your time. It develops the best powers of the man. But! How easily neglected. Absence from the next Sabbath's Services will make it easy to stay away the next week.
The slightest irregularity in attendance will work serious havoc with a good habit. Then we reach for an excuse. We shall find a plenty except good ones. Most excuses analyzed mean simply, "I don't wish to".
If you will attend church regularly one quarter, you will want to go. Try the remedy. Begin March 18th.

We shall look for YOU.
